

Gothenburg Botanical Garden

Gothenburg Botanical Garden is a green and peaceful oasis in the heart of the city away from the bustle and noise. Looking for a short rest, exercise, inspiration, learning experience, beauty or just a simple snack, you've found the right place.

Programme

All conference participants are welcome to Gothenburg Botanical Garden.

We are open every day between sunrise and sunset.

Voluntary entrance fee to the garden
Admission to the greenhouses 20 SEK

Participants are welcome to join a guided tour of the garden on Sunday 28 June at 14.00.

On Tuesday evening at 18:30 we would also like to offer a guided walk with one of our teachers from the education department. Come and find out about our activities for families and schools.

At Gothenburg Botanical Garden you will find an inspiring learning environment. Here you can discover and learn about the natural world. Our ambition is to be a natural resource for all schools, whether they want to visit the gardens on their own or book themselves into one of our school activities. We also hold teacher training courses and offer family events on weekends and during holidays.

We plan to have a round-table discussion over coffee on the modern socio-educational role of botanic gardens as part of the field-trip. The discussion will be facilitated by Dawn Sanders from Gothenburg University, Sweden and Kathy Stewart from Macquarie University, Australia to inform a forthcoming special edition of the Journal of Environmental Education Research, which they are editing with Amy Ryken, from University of Puget Sound, USA."

Please book in advance, maximum of 30 people per tour.
